GRANDDAD, JOHN ALBERT METHNER'S SAYINGS AND STORIES

Richard L. Miller, Ann Arbor, Michigan

Poppy, my grandfather, would sit and tell stories of his adventures or make comments and observations. Collected here are some of his stories and comments. Most of these tales have been heard by members of our family and friends of our family. I hope these few remembrances will stimulate others who heard his stories to add details.

Poppy, John Albert Methner, was born in Wayne County, Michigan, June 15, 1876. Poppy died in Gladwin, June 23, 1963. Grandma was Mary Susan Davis. She was born in West Virginia, March 16, 1877 and died at Coleman, Michigan, July 18, 1926. Poppy's parents were Frederick Frank Methner and Adelia Hopkins. A marriage record in Gratiot County, Michigan, indicates Poppy's parents were married August 14, 1872 at St. Louis, Gratiot County, Michigan. By 1882 his parents were separated. His father married Pauline Laura Hoeft in 1883. They moved to Coleman, Michigan, in 1885. Poppy's grandfather was Franz Methner, born January 14, 1817, at Gross Glougau, Province of Silesia, Germany, and died February 14, 1896 in Hamtramck Township, Wayne County, Michigan, according to the burial record at the Evangelical Lutheran Bethlehem Church at 3510 E. Outer Drive, Detroit.

Poppy's early childhood years were in Wayne County. Later childhood and teen years were on farms in the Coleman area. When he left home he found work in mining and lumbering near Kaiser, West Virginia, where he married and started a family. After several moves back and forth between West Virginia and Coleman, Michigan, because of family and economic needs, he settled near Coleman by 1920. About 1938 he moved to Beaverton, Michigan.

Detroit Mischief - Poppy remembered the time while living in Detroit, his father, Fred locked him and his brother, Frank, in the barn. Frank started a fire in the old stove in the barn and the fire department had to be called. "I'll bet that cost the old man something," Poppy would chuckle.

Learning to Swim. Poppy was afraid of the water and couldn't swim. One of his brothers threw him into a deep hole on Bluff Creek and since that time had no difficulty in swimming. Bluff Creek is in Midland County, Michigan, near North Bradley.

Timber Quality - When he was young man he tried to get a job in the woods near either Averill or Harrison. He said this was the finest white pine timber he had ever seen.

Leaving Home - John Methner and Burt Galloway left Coleman and signed onto a Great Lakes freighter as deck hands. They worked very hard, had good food but couldn't get any sleep because the freighter stopped at every little port along the way to unload and load cargo. Finally they had enough and left the ship at the Sutton's Bay town of Omena. They slept under a blossoming apple tree for about eight hours. They heard there was work in lumbering in West Virginia. They had no resources so they "rode the rods" of the railroad. They would stop and ask for handouts. In one place he was asked to split some wood but it was just an old stump and impossible to split. He was given some sour milk. The train detectives were always on the lookout for free riders. In one rail yard he and his friend separated to try to find something to eat. Poppy never saw his friend again. He was often very hungry. The best cup of coffee he ever had was made in an old tin can under the Western Maryland railroad bridge over the Potomac at Cumberland, Maryland.

Fishing - Before he got a job in West Virginia, while he was trying to "get by," he would catch eels by stretching a string across a stream with baited hooks dangling in the water.

Looking for Work - He went to saw mills and lumber camps and begged for a job. Finally, a man at a logging camp in or near Grant County, West Virginia, put Poppy to work. I believe Poppy went to visit this man sometime after 1945.

Illness - He was working in the woods in West Virginia when his side began to hurt. He put up with the pain for a while. One of his coworkers said, "John I believe you have appendicitis, you better get to the hospital." His coworker had read about it somewhere. John started walking and then got a ride on the lumber train to Petersburg. By the time he got to Petersburg his appendix had ruptured and he was very sick. John said he laid in the hospital for a long while with tubes in his side and finally got well. In his old age he complained of his leg hurting from the old problem.

Eye Cure - Poppy's eyes became infected. He took the pitch from a pine tree and rubbed it into his eyes. It hurt awfully bad but his eyes soon got better.

Forest fire - There was a lot of slashings piled up in the woods. One of the men was fooling around with matches and Poppy said, "Don't do that." But he continued. Suddenly the slashing caught fire and led to one of the worst forest fires they ever had.

Fight - There was a fight at the lumber camp one night. One man lost an eye when he was hit with a lantern. It was a terrible fight and got started because of liquor.

Mountain Lion - After he was married he would walk over the mountain at night to get home on weekends. On several occasions a catamount would follow him and give a hair-raising screech. It sounded like a woman screaming. He was glad he had a lantern.

Occupation in West Virginia – Poppy was a saw filer and miner. He said the mine work was good. You could tell if the roof was sound by the ring it made when hit with a pick ax. If it sounded punky the roof was likely to cave in. One of the Davis boys, Poppy's brother-in-law, Frank, also worked in the mine.

Story about Frank - Frank Methner, Poppy's brother, would work late at his store in Beaverton, Michigan. Frank would sleep and let his horse take him to his home out in the country. One time the horse got lost and Frank woke up with out any idea where he was.

About a Good Heavy Meal - That will stick to your ribs.

On Taking His Shoes Off After Working in the Field All Day - My feet smell like a peach orchard in full bloom.

DEATH OF REV. JOHN G. KANOUSE, 1870

Peninsular Courier and Family Visitant, 8 July 1870.

"Died at his home in Sun Prairie, Dane county, Wis., May 30, 1870, Rev. John G. Kanouse, aged 70 years. Surrounded by his children and friends, thus passed from earth one of the noblest of men.

"Mr. Kanouse was born in 1800 in Rockaway, New Jersey. He embraced religion at the early age of nineteen years, and shortly after, with his brother, Rev. Peter Kanouse, was sent by the Board of Missions to the Choctaw Indian--Peter as a missionary, John G. as a house carpenter. He remained there and built houses for about two years. He then returned to Rockaway, New Jersey, where he remained for about two years. He then removed to Newark, New York, and commenced first the study of law, but soon discovering that law was not his sphere of usefulness, was ordained and commenced preaching. Being by nature of a progressive and persevering temperament, he soon turned his steps to the then far West, locating at Lodi, in Michigan. He remained there twelve years in active service preaching in school-houses and in private houses--in fact, in any and every place where he could get many or few to listen. But the missionary and pioneer spirit was strong upon him and in 1845 he sought the West and settled on Government territory lands in the then Territory of Wisconsin, where he remained until his death, organizing and building up in the meantime the churches of Cottage Grove, Pierceville, and Sun Prairie. He preached to these churches for twenty-five years, the territory in the meantime growing into a great State, with its millions of inhabitants. . . . .He preached his last sermon but a few days before his death, thus, as he wished, dying with his harness on, in the beautiful month of May, whilst the first session of the General Assembly of the reunited Church was being held. . . . " [More] From New York Evangelist.

End of Record

RECORDS RECEIVED OF DEXTER VILLAGE SCHOOL, SCIO TOWNSHIP

Nancy J. Van Blaricum

The Dexter Area Museum has received some new school information from the collection of Flora Bostwick Smith who was the Historian for Dexter for many years before her death in 1947. The records are a census of students in School District No. 9 Fractional of Township of Scio, the Village of Dexter school for the years 1884, 1885, 1887, 1888, & 1889. The 1886 is missing. Each list includes the students in the area age 5 to 19, but listed as family groups. It is this that separates this from the other lists which are by classes, and are useful, but often leave us with some questions. (There are two Flora Bostwicks on the lists for example!) I am working on an index of these lists (each one has over 300 names on it!), but they should help us fill in the missing 1890 Census. If you are interested in finding your relative, please Email (DexMuseum@aol.com) or send a note to the address below. A SASE would speed up the response.
